

"Nurse Question","Patient Response"

"Hello, I'm Nurse Smith. Can you tell me what brought you to the ER today?","I've been having shortness of breath and a really bad headache."

"How long have you been experiencing these symptoms?","The shortness of breath started about an hour ago, and the headache has been bothering me for most of th

"Can you describe the quality of your headache? Is it sharp, dull, throbbing, or something else?","It's a throbbing pain, mostly on the right side of my head."

"On a scale of 1 to 10, how severe is your headache?","I'd say it's about a 7 out of 10."

"Does anything trigger your shortness of breath or headache?","I noticed it gets worse when I try to move around or take deep breaths."

"Have you found anything that helps alleviate your symptoms?","Sitting still seems to help a little, but it's still hard to breathe."

"Are you experiencing any other symptoms besides shortness of breath and headache?","I feel a bit nauseous and I've vomited once."

"Do you have any past medical history we should know about?","I have asthma, but it's usually well-controlled."

"Are you currently taking any medications?","I take an inhaler for my asthma and some over-the-counter pain relievers for headaches."

"Do you have any known allergies?","I'm allergic to penicillin."

"Is there any relevant family history we should be aware of?","My mom has a history of migraines and my dad has asthma too."

"Can you tell me a bit about your social history? Do you smoke or drink alcohol?","I don't smoke, but I do drink socially on weekends."

"Have you had any recent illnesses or infections?","No, I've been feeling fine until today."

"Thank you for sharing that information. We'll get you into a room shortly for further evaluation.", "Thank you."
